

Space Exploration is helping us answer age old questions...

National Science Foundation and NASA research programs are helping humanity understand the origin and evolution of galaxies, stars, and planets, and defining the conditions necessary to support life beyond Earth. Welcome to this voyage of discovery!

Credit: Hubble Space Telescope/NASA

The Andromeda Galaxy is the closest galaxy to the Milky Way. It's home to one trillion stars, about twice the size as the Milky Way.